

Tampa

Military Entrance Processing Station
3520 West Waters Avenue, Tampa, Florida
Phone: (813) 462-3100

Lieutenant Commander Stanley Linton

United States Navy

Lieutenant Commander Stanley Linton is the commander of the Tampa Military Entrance Processing Station and supports the USMEPCOM mission of evaluating applicants by applying Department of War standards in processing and determining eligibility for military service.

He received his commission from the Naval Reserve Officer Training Corps program at Florida A&M University, Tallahassee, Florida, in 2016.

His previous assignments were as a student naval aviator, Naval Aviation Schools Command, Pensacola, Florida; operations officer, Des Moines Military Entrance Processing Station, Des Moines, Iowa; student, Naval Postgraduate School, Monterey, California; shore manpower division operations officer, Navy Manpower Analysis Center; and most recently as director of the Commander's Action Group at MyNavy Career Center.

Linton completed Joint Professional Military Education Phase I at the Naval Postgraduate School. He earned a Master of Operations Analysis from the Naval Postgraduate School, Monterey, California, where his thesis was nominated for the MORS Tisdale award. He also holds a Master of Educational Psychology and a Bachelor's of science in mathematics from Florida State University, Tallahassee, Florida, as well as a Professional in Human Resources certification.

His personal awards include the Joint Service Commendation Medal, the Navy Commendation Medal and various service, unit and personal medals and ribbons.